Voters Asked To Fund More Elementary Classrooms

By Irene Pettyjohn

The Crawford AuSable School District is running out of classrooms. One hundred twenty-three students are bused from the Grayling Elementary School to the Frederic school because there are not enough classrooms for the Grayling area student population and the Grayling Middle School will be overcrowded by the fall of 1992.

In an effort to provide these classrooms, the Crawford AuSable Board of Education is asking school district residents to approve a $5.925 million bond issue for the construction of a second elementary school in Grayling. The special election will be on Wednesday, December 12.

The bond issue will ask voters to authorize the school board to borrow $5.925 million for the construction project. This will involve one mill more than the current debt retirement millage. A second request will ask voters to approve 1.75 mills for annual operation expenses once the building is opened.

Both issues must pass before the board of education will approve construction.

GRAYLING ELEMENTARY SCHOOL GROWTH

The Grayling Elementary School had 369 K-4 students when it was constructed in 1964. Today the Grayling attendance area K-4 enrollment has grown to 780 students, a 111 percent increase.

In 1987 the Crawford AuSable School District added five new classrooms to the elementary school and doubled the size of its library. At the same time, it lost the use of two portable classrooms, for a net gain of three classrooms.

Just as the five additional classrooms were a temporary solution for the lack of classroom space, so is busing. It has solved the problem of lack of classrooms for a year or so, but Superintendent Kent Reynolds explained it has not solved the other overcrowding problems that face the students and staff at the Grayling Elementary School on a daily basis.

"The gymnasium doubles as the cafeteria forcing the custodians to begin clearing away tables and sweeping the floors before all the children have finished eating," he explained, "and still there are days when the floors are still wet when the first afternoon gym class is ready."

Reynolds said parent/teacher meetings were recently held in the kitchen because there was no other space available. The old health room is being used by the school's speech therapist, social worker, school psychologist, and for storage. Even the library is used, at times, as a classroom for the gifted and talented program, which does not have a designated classroom.

Every closet and store room is used by music, gym, and speech teachers as well as other special services personnel, leaving only the hallways for storage. A condition frowned on by Michigan State Police Fire Marshalls.

"When I was first hired as the Grayling Elementary School principal I was determined to clear the hallways," said Barbara Mick, "but after being here only a short time I discovered there really is no other place to put it."

"The fact is we've outgrown the facility," said Reynolds, "and the problem of too many students vying for too few classrooms in Grayling will increase as the larger kindergarten classes move through the elementary schools to the Grayling Middle School."

In 1964 there were 73 kindergarten students. Today there are 171 students enrolled in kindergarten, developmental kindergarten and primary classes. (In 1964 developmental kindergarten and primary classes were not offered and these students would have been included in the kindergarten class as either new students, or students repeating kindergarten.)

In 1964 Grayling had 76 fifth grade students and today that number is 158, a 108 percent increase.

MIDDLE SCHOOL FACES OVERCROWDING

Following the renovation of the Grayling Middle School in 1987, fifth grade students were moved from the Frederic Elementary School (another busing situation) to the middle school. Again a temporary solution to an overcrowding problem. By the fall of 1992, Reynolds said the Grayling Middle School, which has a capacity of 600 students, will have nearly 700 students.

"We are at a situation where we have no classrooms available at the elementary level," said Reynolds, "and we are going to have to move seven classrooms of fifth graders back to the elementary level within the next two years."

LOOKED AT YEAR-ROUND USE

An infrastructure committee, made up of county residents, examined the overcrowded condition at the Grayling Elementary School earlier this year and looked into several solutions including going to a year-round school schedule. Michigan schools that had participated in year-round school were contacted for their input. They learned that year-round school will only provide a 25 percent increase in space, or nine additional classrooms. Because the committee estimated that, within two years, the district would be short at least twelve and possibly 16 classrooms, it was not considered a viable solution.

The committee was also surprised to learn that, last spring, there were no Michigan schools participating in a year-round school schedule.

Reynolds explained that going to a year-round schedule was not without additional expense to the district. He estimated there would be a $120,000 increase in bus transportation costs, which is equivalent to .64 of a mill, as well as additional salary expenses. Reynolds suggested adoption of a year-round school schedule would probably necessitate the installation of air conditioning to both elementary schools and the Grayling Middle School.

After examining current and projected needs of the district, the infrastructure committee recommended to the school board that a second elementary school be constructed next to the Grayling Elementary School and be connected by two hallways so that some services could be shared by both buildings, reducing duplication of services.

If the millage request passes on December 12, the cost to the resident who owns a $50,000 house with a $25,000 assessed value will be about 90¢ per week during construction and then increase to $1.32 per week when the new school opens in 1992.

More Local National Guards Called Up For Active Duty

The 745th Explosive Ordnance Disposal (EOD) Detachment, received orders last week to report to Camp Grayling on Thursday, December 6, to prepare for active duty. The 745th EOD will leave for Fort McCoy, Wisconsin, their mobilization station, on Saturday, December 9. The detachment has an authorized strength of nine men and women.

Unit Commander is CPT Mark Dillow of Belleville.

The mission of the highly trained technicians and administrative specialists is the specialized disposal of or neutralization of all domestic and foreign conventional, chemical, nuclear, and unknown ordnances and homemade bombs. The team has also assisted local police and fire agencies with disposal of explosive items.

The 745th is one of five EOD National Guard detachments in the United States. It was authorized in September, 1987.

Four members of the 745th are from Crawford, Otsego, and Roscommon counties.

SFC Michael Garner of Grayling is the detachment's senior ranking enlisted member. He has been in active service for 19 1/2 years.

Before transferring to the 745th EOD Detachment in April, 1988, SFC Garner was an instructor at Bomb Disposal School at Indian Head, Maryland.

"During the three years we've been here my family has really enjoyed the area," said SFC Garner. "In fact, I was going to retire here in June."

Instead of retiring in June and attending his daughter's high school graduation, SFC Garner will be away from home, working in support of Desert Shield, most likely somewhere in the desert.

SFC Garner said he appreciates the community support his group has received since receiving their call-up orders. He said the River House staff adopted the group and has provided several meals.

He also had some harsh words for military personnel claiming conscientious objector status and refusing to go to war.

"Everyone, whether in the National Guard or active duty, raised their hand and took the same oath," he stated, "and everyone signed a contract with the understanding that they may be called upon in times of emergency."

"Military personnel receive good benefits, a steady pay check and lots of training," he continued. "When someone is enjoying these benefits and then refuses to fulfill their part of the commitment when called, it is completely unfair to the people who are willing to pay the price and fulfill their commitments," he said.

SFC Karen Wallace, administrative clerk with the 745th EOD and Grayling Middle School 5th grade teacher, will be leaving with the detachment this Saturday.

She has been with the Michigan National Guard for about 3 1/2 years.

The 1990 holiday season of events began with Grayling's annual Uptown Christmas Walk on Sunday, November 18. An afternoon of relaxed fun and tasty treats were enjoyed by young and old alike as they browsed through the various shops searching the perfect gift for each person on their Christmas list.

On November 23, the Christmas season began for the children of Crawford County when Santa Claus and his merry elves arrived at Grayling's Children's Park.

Chamber Members To Vote On I-75 Loop Project

Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce members will be holding a "Chamber Transportation Meeting" at the Grayling Holiday Inn at 7 p.m., Thursday, December 6, to review and discuss the plans for the proposed I-75 Business Loop project. A representative of the Michigan Department of Transportation will be giving a detailed overview of the proposed project from start to finish. All Chamber members are encouraged to attend this meeting regarding the future traffic flow for the business loop.

Based on Chamber member response, the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce will establish an official position in regards to the proposed project. This is the last official meeting to be held before the scheduled start of the project this spring.

Faulty Light Blamed For Denny's Fire

A faulty electrical ballast in a florescent light fixture in the rear of Denny's IGA has been blamed for starting the fire that destroyed the Grayling supermarket.

"The structure was in such poor condition after the fire that it was demolished on the following Tuesday," said Grayling City and Township fire chief Russ Strohpaul.

A Michigan State Police fire marshal determined electrical failure as probable cause about two days after the fire.

Strohpaul said the malfunctioning light had been on all day Sunday and until about 3:30 a.m. Monday, November 26, while the stock man worked. When he left he turned the light out, but Strohpaul said it was apparently too late. The stock man said he did not notice or smell anything unusual before he left. According to store owner, Dennis Rochette, it was not one of the lights left on in the store for security.

Four firemen, Randee Flowers, Jed Blaauw, Dennis Sloan and Ken Lademan, all from Crawford County, were injured at the scene. Strohpaul said they have all recovered and have returned to work.

"We knew when we went into this fire that we would have some nasty smoke," said Strohpaul. "Grocery stores contain a lot more than just food."

Strohpaul said the store contained Freon gases from refrigeration units, styrofoam, motor oil, charcoal lighter fluid, and aerosol cans; all potential hazards for firemen. He said fire fighters used about 60 air bottles while they fought the fire.

Rochette estimated the loss at between $600,000 and $700,000. He said he hopes to rebuild the business as soon as possible.

Grayling Elementary School Overcrowding

Here are samples of overcrowded conditions found by Avalanche photographer Irene Pettyjohn. School officials say there is still time before the Dec. 12 elementary school vote for community residents to check out Grayling Elementary conditions for themselves.

CROWDED HALLS—With an enrollment of 647 students, Grayling Elementary is one of the largest elementary schools in the state. Hallways are crowded as these students come inside from recess. "The fact is we've outgrown the facility," said Superintendent Kent Reynolds.

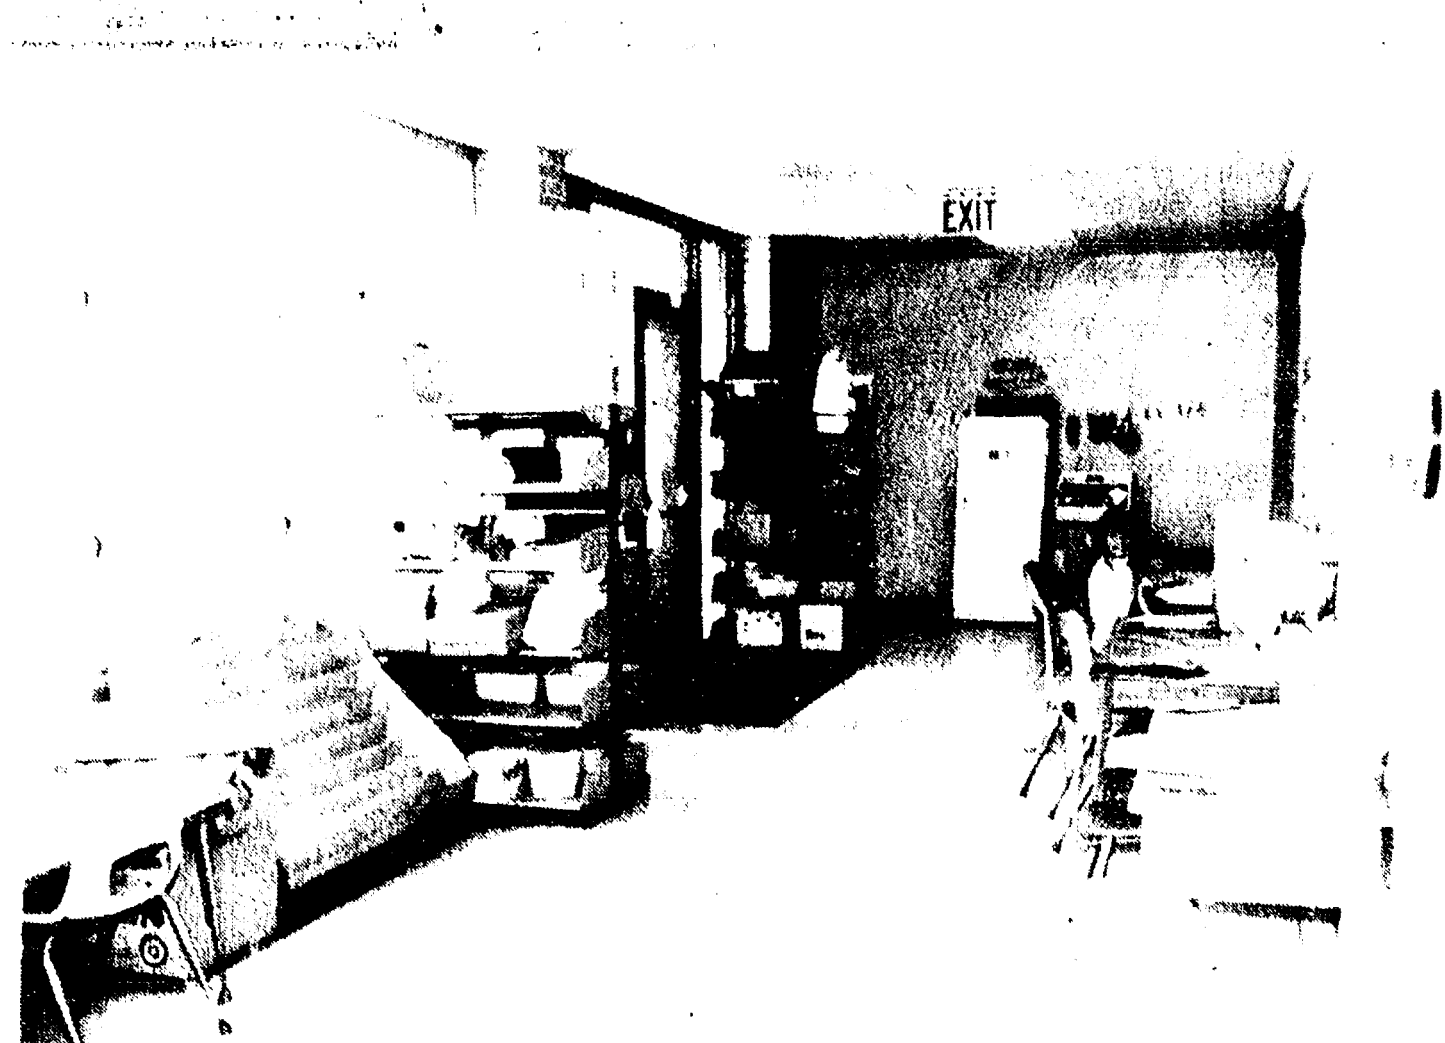

(Top Left) KITCHEN CONFERENCES--Every nook and cranny of the Grayling Elementary School is being utilized either for student education, offices for support personnel, or storage. In November, some kindergarten parent/teacher conferences were held in the kitchen.

(Top Right) NURSE'S STATION--This is another hallway that has been closed off and utilized for storage. The white table in the front of the picture is the first-aid station. Grayling Elementary School used to have a "sick room" with an attached bathroom and a cot for children to lay down on while they waited for their parents to pick them up. That room is now an office for special services personnel and, in a pinch, it is also used as a small conference room.

(Right) MUSIC ROOM--This was a hallway leading to the multi-purpose room stage side door. It now doubles as a storeroom and the music teacher's office. The cart in the front of the picture and an electronic keyboard is taken from classroom to classroom by the music teacher. Grayling Elementary School had a music room with a sound-proof door, but it is being used by Mr. Byron Brigham as a classroom.

OFFICE/STORE ROOM—Physical education teacher Kathryn Yatich shares this office/storeroom off the multi-purpose room with occupational therapist, Monique Mansfield.

STORAGE PROBLEMS—Every closet and storage room at the Grayling Elementary School is utilized as office space for special services personnel making it necessary to store materials and equipment in the hallways. This hallway leading to the two kindergarten classrooms is used not only for storage, but also a work area for teacher aides and students and even has a refrigerator.

CLASSROOMS FOR KIDS—Mrs. Toni Johnson's second grade class of 32 students fill this Grayling Elementary School classroom leaving little space for special activities or even a computer corner.

CAFETERIA/GYM—Custodian Mac McPherson is shown removing a cafeteria table from the multi-purpose room. Before the first afternoon gym class (12:30 p.m.) can use the room, the floor must be swept and mopped. The lunch/gym schedules are so tight, it is not unusual for Mrs. Yatich to find the custodians still cleaning or the floor too wet to be used.

Thoughts From A Serviceman

(The following was written by Paul Bobenmoyer of the United States Air Force.)

It was an unusual duty day, we fell out for roll call. We were abruptly awakened with our briefing of "Operation Desert Shield." Tension hung over us like vultures circling over their prey. We all knew what would be next. The names were called out, one by one members of my team fell out to pack their gear. I prayed my name would not be called. Luckily, I was not picked for this mission, but I did not feel at ease with myself.

The next sound I heard was the roar of the many C-130's coming in for refueling. As I headed for the flight line, I was thinking of the people I left back in the briefing room ready to out-process. As I saw the 130's come in to land, it looked as if the sky was infested with a giant flock of migrating birds. But when they made their landing approach, I knew these birds meant business.

As I did my final adjustments on the turbines, I watched all of you load into my C-130. I watched from the wing, all of the equipment and troops. As we looked into each other's eyes, we knew one another's thoughts. I watched you take your so-called last look of home. I have seen that look of worry before, but never this great. So many unfamiliar faces, but for that moment, we knew each other well.

As I watched the tail doors of the 130 close, I saw all of your faces staring at the deck of the plane. I knew exactly what was going through your mind. One by one, each 130 took off filling the sky once again. You may not have seen me, but I stood proud, with salute held high. I knew that you men going over would serve the Motherland proud. I only wish I was with you.

Now months have passed, my eyes and ears peeled to the news and papers. With one brother and countless friends in the Middle East, I am still not a peace with myself. I see all of the letters and packages going to our boys, to bring them a little closer to home. But, we all know what their one wish is. I also hear all the ridicule toward them being over there. This brings me to my knees with pain to see Americans downgrading their freedom fighters. But, to let our boys know, I stand in your defense daily and strike back at those who mock you.

I know my time will come sooner or later when I will head for the so-called "giant sandbox across the pond." I only wish it were sooner. My one regret was at the start of this whole ordeal. Which was praying I wouldn't go. I just want all of you to know, if the time comes and I know it will, just call. I would be honored to serve proudly, and to fight by your side. My hopes are with you all daily. I am proud of the fact that my brothers in arms are protecting my freedom and hope soon I can fight by your side.

We Are All Rewarded By Good School System

Dear Jon,

The Crawford-AuSable Elementary system is in tremendous need of additional classrooms. The Grayling Elementary School is currently overpopulated by 146 students and even more kids are being bused to the Frederic Elementary School filling it to capacity as well. Projections are that enrollment will continue to increase in the following years. We must build a new school now to meet the needs of our kids and relieve the over-crowded classrooms.

I talked to one elementary teacher who said the overcrowding has created a poor situation with the teachers spending almost as much time trying to control the kids as they do teaching them. The teachers don't have any time to give the individual attention that various students require.

Our state spends approximately $25,000 each year on every inmate it houses in prison and an average of $3,500 on every student in school. If our kids don't receive the attention they need many will not be headed in any direction with their lives. Some may end up in prison. There will be more who hang-out, break and enter, cause public disturbances, become involved with drugs, and disrupt the community.

Many kids, with just a little extra encouragement and motivation at an early age, can become more positive about their education and the future. If we neglect our kids now it will cost us more in the long run.

We are all rewarded by a good school system. A major factor in a doctor's decision to settle in a community is the quality of education his kids will receive. We all take pride in our community and the fine citizens that come out of our school system. Let's continue to give our kids the attention they deserve so more can lead enriched lives and enhance our community. A strong school system is the backbone of an outstanding community.

Sincerely
Michael T. Hoffman

Quality Schools And Hospitals Are Lifeblood Of Community

On December 12th, the citizens of Crawford County and environs will be asked to vote on a bond issue to finance the construction of a new elementary school. The population of the Crawford AuSable school district has shown significant growth in the past years. A new elementary school is desperately needed.

As a physician in Grayling over the past 17 years, I have witnessed significant changes in the growth and quality of both the public school system and of Grayling Mercy Hospital.

I make mention of both the school system and the hospital because of the importance of health and education to a community — together, they constitute the lifeblood, a most vital resource.

Citizens of Crawford County and surrounding areas, both old and young, are fortunate and privileged to have an excellent school system and community hospital. However, we must recognize that to maintain high standards of quality requires continuing, unwavering community support.

Recently, several hospital physicians, for reasons of their own, chose to leave the Grayling area. The impact of their sudden departure has been felt by the entire community, most particularly its senior citizens. All efforts now must be focused upon physician recruitment, on how to attract new physicians to the Grayling area to provide the much needed medical services. In this effort, the hospital has enlisted the support of many community leaders and organizations. The quality of the community public school system and the enthusiasm with which the citizens of a community support their schools is a primary concern of any young physician desiring to locate a place to practice.

To ensure high quality in our educational system requires the financial commitment of each and every citizen. We will have the opportunity to show our support of the public school system and to lend our commitment to physician recruitment on December 12th by voting yes for the upcoming bond issue to build a new elementary school.

Support our children! Support our Senior Citizens! Vote Yes on December 12th. Support our community!

Community Support Will Be Remembered

To The Editor:

On behalf of the men and women of Camp Grayling, many of whom were mobilized it the last few days to support Operation Desert Shield, I wish to express my heartfelt appreciation to the many individuals, businesses, and organizations who gave of themselves, their time, and their resources, to express their friendship and love for these departing soldiers. Your support and your presence at their departure will strengthen their resolve when the loneliness of separation sets in, and will bolster their desire to return home again, as soon as their tasks are completed.

Even though the departures were at 7 a.m. on Friday and 4 a.m. on Saturday, many of your cared enough to see the units on their way. For years to come they will remember your presence and how much you cared.

Below are just some of the many people who helped make the sendoff of these units a fitting tribute to them and to the tasks they face:

Jack and Gloria Alef; Mayor Robert Golnick; Commission Chairman Bob McLachlan; Emil Kraus; Ben Franklin Family Center; Mac's Drug Store; Grayling Area Ministerial Association; Reverend Dennis Paulson; Reverend Joseph Carpenter; Fr. Derik Roy; Sheriff Harold Hatfield; Police Chief Pete Stephan; American Legion Post 106; Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 3637; AMVETS Post 90; Goodale's Bakery; Crawford County Avalanche; Leader and Kalkaskan; Record-Eagle; WGRY; WQON; TV 7 & 4; TV 9 & 10; Glen's Market; Magistrate Jean Callewart; Crawford County Governmental Staff Members; and many others who expressed their best wishes and support.

Blanchard handles loss well

MICHIGAN'S OLD GOVERNOR — if one can consider the Hon. James J. Blanchard old at 48 — appears to be taking his loss at the polls in stride.

"I will help him in any way I can," Mr. Blanchard said of his election conqueror and successor, the Hon. John M. Engler. Apparently Mr. Blanchard has done exactly that — or at the least, he has not thrown too many roadblocks in Mr. Engler's way so far, which is about the same thing.

We have not heard any public complaints from Mr. Engler or his associates in the process of preparing the new and politically different incoming administration.

That's a credit to Mr. Blanchard. Of course, over the last eight years of the Blanchard administration, the Michigan public has come to expect class from the front office. The transition so far is in keeping with the way Mr. Blanchard has conducted the state's highest office.

THAT'S NOT TO SAY that Mr. Blanchard has not expressed some negative thoughts about what happened on Nov. 6. There has been no admission that "the better man won," for example.

Immediately after the election, Mr. Blanchard tended to credit a national "time for a change" trend with his defeat. The governor's office is the most visible on the ballot, and if voters are dissatisfied, they tend to take it out on the top man — that is, the governor. This happened in 14 states, including Michigan. In a way, goes this argument, Mr. Blanchard was simply a victim of a peculiar 1990 circumstance.

More recently, Mr. Blanchard tended to blame the media and the polls for his loss. When newspapers publish polls showing a candidate with a huge lead — as they did in reporting a whopping Blanchard advantage just before the election — then supporters tend to become overconfident and may stay away from the polls. At least, that's how the Blanchard rationale points the finger at the media and the polls.

HE'S PROBABLY RIGHT on both counts. When a candidate wins well over a million votes, and still loses by only about 19,000 votes, it's obvious a number of factors are involved. National trends and over-confidence probably were two of them.

It's interesting that these two factors publicly blamed by Mr. Blanchard for his loss were outside his control. He seems to be saying that his loss really wasn't his fault... that it came from other sources.

Of course, Mr. Blanchard has no previous experience in losing elections. He's always won. Losing is hard to accept, and even more difficult to understand, especially by someone who believes he has outstanding qualifications and has done an outstanding job. Obviously it can't be the candidate; it must be something else.

IT'S CLEAR THINGS will be different for the governor, once he's no longer governor.

That change has already started. For example, the National Governor's Association held a seminar for new governors covering several aspects of what they can expect on their new jobs.

Mr. Engler was one of 25 governors to attend the three-day seminar — 190 of them elected for the first time in on November 6. The program covered such items as preparing a budget, and balancing personal and public life.

Mr. Blanchard had been scheduled to attend. He was supposed to be part of the faculty, teaching new governors some of the things he has learned over the years. However, after losing to Mr. Engler, Mr. Blanchard was dis-invited. He didn't go.

It's a good bet Mr. Blanchard will find a lot of things different. An avid golfer, Mr. Blanchard likely will share the experience noted by another avid golfer after he vacated a high office.

When Dwight Eisenhower was asked about the changes in his life after he left the presidency, he noted one of the biggest changes was that more people were beating him at golf.

Jim Blanchard is likely to notice the same thing happening to him.

Let's Talk About It By Joe Murphy

I think those folks that are so quick to mock and criticize the National Guard have good reason to hang their heads in shame. Our friends and neighbors who just days ago were working and paying taxes the same as you and I, could within a matter of days find themselves in combat. We all pray that the crisis in the Middle East will wind down without any shots being fired and every one of them returns. But as with a lot of things there is no guarantee that things will happen that way. We all hope that the display of power will dissuade Iraq from following the foolhardy path to war.

The fact that the National Guard are being called up and some Guard units have already been sent to the potential combat zone points out the importance of the training that takes place here at Camp Grayling. They must be at that point of readiness at all times for in a matter of days they can be on their way. Perhaps that training they received here at Camp Grayling could mean victory or defeat, death or survival. I am very sure that if fighting does break out it will not be on a timelock basis. Some folks wonder why the Guard has to train at night. It's mainly because wars are fought 24 hours a day. If they do not get a chance to become well trained in the use of their night firing devices they will be under a great handicap in actual combat. Those helicopters that fly at night are training pilots to be able to fly troops in or out at night. Unless we are willing to pay the price in casualties, let's let the Guard perform the training they need to survive and win.

I think we all felt sad that some of our local people have to leave hearth and home to serve anywhere they are sent. We know our area will have a less joyous holiday season knowing fathers, mothers, sons, and daughters will be separated by the call up of the Guard. In some cases, grandmothers and grandfathers are among those called up. We pray for their safe return to our area and neighborhoods. To their families, just being separated is hell enough without having to worry about the fortunes of war. Let us all pray that each and everyone will return soon as hale and hearty as when they left us. Now we all realize belonging to the Guard is not just a lot of fun and games, it can be deadly serious. Thank God for these people who value freedom so high that they work and train in times of peace to defend it if the need should arise.

Letters to the Editor

Reader Offers Two Alternatives To School Overcrowding Problem

Dear Editor:

I rarely write letters to the paper but feel something should be voiced about the issue on an additional elementary school. Many questions come to mind that I'm sure others think of but don't ask or at least don't ask to the right people. It seems like all the educational people high up want new schools every time there is an increase in enrollment. Do they seek out alternatives or because of lack of questioning others, they can only think of new?

Unfortunately, we as taxpayers pay for this and don't even say anything about it except at the polls. I believe there are alternatives available and we as a community could get together and voice some of them. I can't understand why the Commissioners haven't raised questions to the community but have tried to resolve this issue among themselves. Are they the only thinkers here? I doubt it. I will offer two solutions myself. But first I want everyone to know that if there is a need then I agree that something should be done, especially if we have to pay for it. Otherwise we will pay for it through our children later.

I do not have a child in the public school system but because of paying for the schools I would like to say something about it. First, we can utilize the facilities we have now to their full potential. Why not use them year around? Are they not built for learning? Does learning stop because of summer? So many students say they are bored after the first month and then because they have nothing to do, they get into trouble. Moms and Dads still have to work during the summer and teachers find other jobs to do during the summer. There are other school districts using this system and it is working for them. Sure the cost of operations and maintenance will go up because of use but it is easier for me to handle an increase for that than an increase for new schools every two or three years.

The second solution I can think of is more expensive but if a new school must be built then build a middle school out by the high school and use the present middle school for 3rd-5th grades. No football fields have to be moved, no extra busing problems, and there will be plenty of room for future enrollments on down the line. I have heard of a few objections to this also. If you put two schools together you have student mixing problems. Look around you at other school systems in northern Michigan and you will see a great many schools have done this and it has worked out quite well. There are things that can be done like fencing, dismissal schedules, etc. Another problem that will be raised right away is to the septic problem. If the school is built in city limits the way it is proposed now then the city has to take care of that problem. Apparently it is not a problem as it has not been raised in the paper about it. So they can still take care of it out there. I know this raised questions a few years ago when it was proposed to build a new middle school out by the high school.

Please be assured that we the people are thinking of our children's future and also the cost that we will be facing down the road. The solution wasn't satisfactory the first time around, it should be obvious that something else should be done and not get the same issue crammed down our throats again. Why must we pay for an expensive voting issue twice for the same thing? Why haven't the Commissioners asked for solutions from the community? I hope this letter helps those thinkers out there to voice their solutions and work together to come up with the correct answer to overcrowding in our schools. I think the voting should be cancelled until there is something done that will fit what the community wants. Remember the middle school issue a few years ago. We can do it again and then it will be done for our children's benefit, not more principals, teachers, superintendents, and commissioners.

Schools Important To Attracting New Physicians To Area

Dear Editor:

Voters will make important decisions regarding our school systems in Grayling and Roscommon on Wednesday, December 12, when they cast their ballots on whether or not to build a new middle school in Roscommon and a new elementary school in Grayling. In light of the physician crisis in the Mercy Hospital service area, we thought it important to shed some light on the connectedness between the medical community and the schools.

As Mercy attempts to attract young aspiring physicians to the area, many with growing families, the issue of quality of schools is always raised. These young physicians want to know if the children will receive quality education in a comfortable setting. Obviously the current crunching of students into classrooms isn't attractive to outsiders looking in for the first time. We endorse both school district's efforts to build new schools and would hope the voters would do the same.

When new physicians come to look at the Grayling and Roscommon areas, they are introduced to the school system. They want to know if the community supports the schools. They want to know if millages are difficult to pass. They want to know if their children will be in a comfortable classroom setting. It would be helpful if Mercy's physician recruitment committee could brag about a new middle school in Roscommon and a new elementary school in Grayling. New schools are always an enticing attraction to young professionals.

Voters need to recognize the relationship between a quality school system and a quality health care system. To attract new physicians, we need to show that we not only care about our doctors... we care about our schools and the educational needs of our community. Grayling and Roscommon are growing and as the population increases, so does the need for classroom space. We urge voters to say yes to schools on December 12.

Let's Fly Flags To Show Support

Dear Editor:

I think our little town is beautifully decorated for the Christmas Holiday Season and want to say "thank you" to everyone who had a part in making our town so pretty. However, something is bothering me and I want to bring it to the attention of the business people in our community. Perhaps it is just an oversight, but I feel that every business in our community should "proudly" fly the American Flag from their business for all to see that we support the men and women who have departed from our community to go the Middle East and keep that flag flying until each and every one of them is safely back in our community with us.

Of course, we as citizens of the community can also proudly display the flag at our residences in support of these men and women and let's not forget to pray for them daily as well as their families who have been left behind to carry out the daily tasks of day-to-day family care and work.

Area Soldiers Remain In Our Prayers

Dear Jon:

We express our appreciation to you and the staff of the Avalanche, for the coverage given area soldiers and their families involved in the Middle East crisis. We commend you for making their names and addresses public, and encouraging the community to write them. These are very special Americans, and will remain upon our hearts and in our prayers during these difficult days.

About 18 years ago, our column, "The Bible Speaks From Calvary Baptist Church," was born in the midst of the conflict in Viet Nam. Following two paid ads against abortion, a letter to the editor, dated 11/10/72, implied we were hypocrites because we defended innocent babies, while not condemning as murder the killing of communists by American soldiers. It was signed, "Sick of Double Standards, Name withheld by request." The liberals drew first blood. The Avalanche printed our reply the following week, in which we defended the divine right of government to fight just wars. A member of the local ministerial group responded to our letter with a lengthy rebuttal in which he declared that our teachings "... would dishonor the Church and lend support to some of the most dangerous concepts ever to enter the human mind." In retrospect, we are thankful our response which followed was refused publication. This led to the birth of our column.

With the demise of international communism as an immediate threat, the containment policy of the United States as devised and followed in Korea and Viet Nam is now viewed as successful. Korean and Viet Nam veterans are beginning to gain the honor and glory they should have received from the start. It was the sacrifice of their own plans, dreams, desires, — yes, even their own health and lives, that enables peoples around the world today, to have the opportunity to share in human freedom and dignity.

None of us like war. Most of us pray that war will not come. While some of us may raise questions or express feelings and opinions, seldom do we have the facts and insight to challenge our leaders at the time military decisions must be made. None of us would want the people of our nation exposed to a chemical, biological, or nuclear war a few years from now led by the madman of Iraq. Will we trust the reasoned judgment of our U.S. leadership working in consensus with most nations of the world? The "Blame America First" mentality is accelerating an appeal for us, to leave our future welfare to the whims of Saddam Hussein.

A good case could be built from Holy Scriptures, history, and common sense for keeping some people out of our military. A list could include conscientious objectors, the faint-hearted, cravens, and sodomites. However, the concerns of those or any other minority, should not be allowed to rob our military personnel of the honor, respect, and glory they justly deserve. May we as Americans never again stand silently by and allow the sacrifices of our military heroes, to be verbally demeaned and discredited like those who suffered, bled, and died for us all, in our war against atheistic communism.

Every Person In Service Takes Oath To Honor And Serve Our Country

Dear Editor,

Oath, definition of (A solemn affirmation or declaration made with an appeal to God).

Every person who enters into a branch of service takes an oath to serve and honor their country whether it is in peace time or war time. Each person realizes this is an obligation to do their duty, to maintain our rights as people of the United States.

Every military unit depends on each individual to honor that oath to make that unit work as a whole. If there is a person who cannot be relied upon to do their duty, disregarding beliefs and religion, then our military cannot work as a whole to protect our country and our rights.

This is a give and take world and if an individual is willing to take our government's money, then they should also be willing to give their services in return.

Whereas there used to be a draft, the military units are now volunteer. Every person knows there is the possibility of war. No one likes to see their loved ones sent overseas, but we are all very proud that someone we know has the courage to stand up and take their part in gaining peace for all of us.

To: All Landfill Users

Due to the increased cost at the landfill, under Act 641 and the amendments to it, the landfill has no choice but to raise the rates $1.00 per yard beginning January 1, 1991. The last amended act to 641 was a Perpetual Care Fund Trust that calls for .25¢ per yard for every yard that comes into the landfill in the future. The money in the trust fund can be used for that purpose. If this act would have been in effect twenty years ago we would not have the problem financially on the old landfill that we have today. The money stays in the trust fund for 30 years, controlled by the State of Michigan.

The increase in cost of fuel for equipment, and the increase in cost for the vinyl to build the cells to dispose of waste has increased one-third. So to these increases we feel that the need is necessary.

Avalanche Size Changing In 1991

Like many people dieting to keep new year resolutions, the Crawford County Avalanche will be losing an inch around the waistline starting with the new year.

Because of shortages in the newsprint industry, the Avalanche will be switching to 28-inch paper beginning with the Jan. 2 issue. At the same time the Avalanche switches to the slightly smaller paper, it will change to the nationally recognized SAU 6-column page format from our old style 8-column page.

Most readers will notice the easier reading length of news stories using the 6-column format.

Most Avalanche advertisers have received notices of the change. If you would like more information about the size change, please call the Avalanche 517/348-6811, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Charges Filed Against Morse

Sgt. George Morse may be facing a general court martial for refusing to obey several orders from his commanding officer. The orders involved getting some equipment ready for deployment to Saudi Arabia and Sgt. Morse has maintained for several weeks that he will do nothing to assist in Operation Desert Shield.

The five counts of refusal to obey an order were filed by the commanding officer of the band.

Sgt. Morse's father, George Morse, said shortly after the charges were leveled against his son, he was removed from his unit that is scheduled to leave for the gulf on December 15, and assigned to a non-deployable unit. He has since been reassigned to a military police battalion that is deployable.

The Army is currently conducting an investigation and Morse said it is his hope that they will recommend against a court martial and settle on a lesser disciplinary action.

Meanwhile George and Lorna continue to support their son's right to decide for himself whether or not to participate in Operation Desert Shield.

Lorna left on Saturday to fly to Fort Riley, Kansas, to lend further support to her son and his family.

"I'm optimistic," said Morse. "The longer the Army takes to look into the matter the better I feel George will receive a fair and just decision." He hopes the Army will grant his son conscientious objector status and let him leave the service under honorable conditions.

"He's done nothing dishonorable," said Morse. "To stand up for what you believe is not dishonorable."

He said his son's refusal to fight or even assist in any war is based on the crystallization of his moral values which have been pulling together over the years as Sgt. Morse matured.

"George really believes that it takes more of a man to walk away from confrontation than to stay and fight," said the father. "George is not afraid to go to Saudi Arabia," he said. "If he were afraid to go he would also be afraid to talk about it."

Morse said since his son has made his feelings about war known he has been asked the question, "What happens if everyone refused to fight?"

"I tell them I think it would be wonderful," he said. "If everyone refused to fight, there would be no wars."

"It seemed pretty calm with I joined," said Wallace, who has been staying at Camp Grayling since last Thursday working on mobilization preparations, "but you always know these things can happen."

Leaving her 5th grade class last week was difficult for SPC Wallace's students. "I had known for about two months that my call-up was possible," she said, "and I tried to prepare my students, but it was still hard on them."

"They're concerned about what's going happen to me and what's going to happen to them when someone comes in and takes my place," she said.

Ginger Casey will be substituting for SPC Wallace and has already planned to lead the class in some special geography studies about the area of the world where their teacher will be serving.

"I will be visiting the class again before I leave," said SPC Wallace. "The class will be following my travels on a map and we will be writing letters back and forth to one another."

The 745th EOD Detachment will be leaving Camp Grayling by convoy at 7 a.m. on Saturday, December 8. Before departure, the Camp Grayling Minuteman Foundation will present a brief farewell ceremony at the Camp Grayling Armory. Members of the public are encouraged to attend this ceremony.

Baby Born On Way To Hospital

A Harrison man became a grandfather early Sunday morning when his daughter gave birth to a son in the back seat of his car as he was rushing her to Grayling's Mercy Hospital.

A Crawford County Sheriff deputy noticed the car driven by Samuel Smith, 44, at 3:49 a.m. as it was traveling northbound at a high rate of speed on I-75 just north of the US 27. When he attempted to stop the car, the deputy noticed a woman in the passenger seat motioning to him. The woman was later identified as Smith's wife, Andrea.

As the vehicle took the Grayling exit a Grayling City patrolman saw a third person lying in the back seat of the car. Both patrol units followed the car to Grayling Mercy Hospital where Smith's daughter, Leslee Gardner, and his grandson were admitted. Mrs. Smith had delivered her grandson in the back seat of the family car while enroute to Grayling.

At last report, mother and baby were doing fine. Samuel Smith was not cited for the incident, but was counseled that, while emergencies do arise where time is important, extra safety precautions must be taken to insure a safe arrival to a facility where help is available occurs, without causing additional injuries.

Whenever an abandoned vehicle is scrapped or a vehicle is scrapped by an private individual the sheriff's dept. must complete an abandoned/scrapped vehicle form. Pictures are taken of the vehicle and the dept. checks for any outstanding liens and whether it is listed as stolen.

This paperwork entitles the owner of a junk yard to use the vehicle for parts. Once a vehicle has been "scrapped out" it can never be titled and licensed for road use again.

To build a car from scrapped parts, an individual must apply for a special "assembled title."

P.V.T. Jeffrey Cowie, 1990 graduate of Elk Rapids High School, has just completed basic training at Fort Dix, New Jersey. He will continue his A.I.T. training at Fort Dix in vehicle operation. Jeffrey Cowie is the son of Gary and Pam Cowie, of Traverse City, and a former Grayling resident.

BOOKS AND CHRISTMAS—Jim and Betty Ruth Leech of Grayling are shown selecting several children's books from the Icehouse Book Nook as Christmas presents for their grandchildren.

The Book Nook carries an exceptional inventory of award winning books that can whisk a child from their everyday routines to far away places they may never be able to visit in person. Books make wonderful Christmas gifts that last long after other toys are broken or outgrown. Many times favorite books are saved and handed down from parent to child.

This Christmas, take a few minutes and stop by the Icehouse Book Nook, located on Norway Street, and offer the children on your Christmas list the opportunity to experience a new adventure from a comfortable chair.

Marine Staff Sgt. Jeffrey J. Geiss, son of Donald R. and Maxine P. Geiss of Route 1, Frederic, was recently commended while serving at Marine Corps Service Support Schools, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C. Geiss was recognized for his outstanding performance of duty, professionalism, and overall dedication to the service. A 1975 graduate of Grayling High School, Grayling, he joined the Marine Corps in February 1981.

*And all through the store
There were savings and bargains

*The gift list was a long one -
It didn't look easy
And thinking about it
Just made me queasy!*

She said "your order is tall"
But don't fret and don't worry -
We've got something for all.*

*You don't have to leave Grayling

In addition to cash prizes of $50 First, $35 Second and $25 Third, each prize will include lovely sketched depictions by local artists of Crawford County Landmarks, arranged, framed, and ready to accent any wall in your home.

One Of The Prettiest Sights During The Holiday Season

All of the Christmas home displays will be placed on a tour route throughout the surrounding area. The contest will be within a ten mile radius of Grayling for convenience sake. Deadline for entry applications will be December 7 at which time a list will be made available to the Avalanche of entries so that you, the community, will have the opportunity to view and judge the homes for yourselves.

Something different this year is that we will provide a map of the tour route which will be available at the Avalanche, Ivy Girl, and Weavers Gifts. We will be asking for your opinions to assist us in the final judging.

Final judging of the displays will be done on Thursday, December 13, based on originality, beauty, and color. Exterior decorations only.

Winners will be announced at the Chamber Office, 7 p.m., Saturday, December 15th.

Becoming A Big Brother/Sister Could Be Best Christmas Present

The Crawford County SIBS FOR KIDS Program is looking for volunteers to be Big Brothers/Sisters to boys and girls who are part of a single-parent family and lack an appropriate role model. There are currently seven boys, and two girls waiting for Big Brother or Big Sister matches. Because most divorce situations result in the mother having custody of the children, and the father often absent from the daily family contact, many young boys are left without a male role model. This is why, as a general rule, there are more boys waiting than girls. The SIBS program steps in and provides a positive relationship for these boys and girls.

As a SIBS volunteer, the Big Brother and Big Sister program provides friendship, guidance, and trust to a boy or girl who otherwise lacks this opportunity. The program is based on individual activities and events with a formal get-together about twice a year. One such get-together this year was a pizza party. The get-togethers provide a time for "Bigs" and "Littles" to discuss current happenings and get new ideas for things to do when they are together.

Matches do everything from play tag football to going shopping together. Most activities are inexpensive and fun. The "Bigs" often fill gaps that a single-parent can't fill on their own because of work commitments or inexperience.

An example would be a "Big" who takes his match ice fishing or hunting. These are experiences that a single-mother may have trouble providing for her son. Same for a single-father, when his daughter wants to go shopping or bake. The rewards of the program are reciprocal. At the same time you are giving friendship you are receiving it. Most matches last years, and Littles often become "Bigs" when they turn eighteen. As Christmas quickly approaches it's important to remember that the gift is just what's in your heart and not what's in your hand. If you would like to become a Big Brother or Sister, please call 348-2841 ext. 262, to offer friendship to a child who needs you.

Lovells Group Plans Festive Holiday Season

Lovells Extension members are looking forward to a festive Christmas season. On Wednesday, December 5, the ladies will attend a luncheon given by the Higgins Lake Study group at the Lyons Township Hall. A week later, December 12th, their annual Christmas party at the Ladies Club will be a Pot Luck Luncheon. Marge Wright and Irene Honey will be the hostesses. Please remember to bring an exchange gift and two Bingo prizes.

The November meeting was held at the home of hostess Hazel Koernke, her co-hostess was Sophie Koernke. They served the members a delicious luncheon, the more congenial in the homey atmosphere. A new member to the group, Kathy Seaman, was welcomed and Joyce Mullin returned after a year's absence. Four ladies attended the state convention of M.A.E.H. in Port Huron; Mildred Johnson, Hazel Koernke, Margie Harwood, and Delphine Nowaczyk. They reported on the highlights of the convention and the separate meetings they attended. Carol Ralph picked her name in the 50-50 drawing to the delight of the members. The meeting was concluded with a very successful bottle auction.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

Bob Gingerich became the first person to win our weekly prizes twice this year. He edged out Larry Rouse and Sandra Gennrich by picking a lower tiebreaker in the San Francisco-N.Y. Giants game. All three earned 26 points.

Coming close with 25 points were Mary Ann Blair, Kimberly Curtis, Paula Derenzy, Warren Galvani, Rena Neilson, Gary Nettleton, Barry Shantz, Ken Wyman, and Enid Wireman.

With the college games winding down, we don't have enough games to fill our 20 game boxes. (We know most of you will miss our small college games we snuck in occasionally.) So we've come up with a few yes or no questions for you to earn points.

For example, the question for number 13 is "Will Barry Sanders rush for 100 yards?" You write yes or no in the winner blank for game 13. If you guessed yes and Sanders rushes for 100 yards in this week's game against the Raiders, you earn a point for correctly answering that question.

The 10-point bonus game will be L.A. Raiders at Detroit.

Here are the leaders in the overall contest: Mike McNamara, 205; Ken Wyman, 202; Fred Krolkowski, 198; Paul Hamlin, 196; Paula Derenzy, 194; Pamela Hull, 194; Gary Derenzy, 193; Chris Golinick, 193; Hugh McLean, 193; Gerry St. Germain, 193.

It all started when I asked my Mom and Dad for a dime for a High Bounce Ball. I didn't know what was about to happen. When I got home I threw the Ball to the left trying to hit a tree. But before it hit the tree I found myself lying on the ground! Where am I. Then all of a sudden I heard a loud roar. It was a Tyrannosaurus Rex! I had gone back to the year 500 B.C. Then I ran and he was coming after me. I saw the Ball and threw it to the right. Then I was back home and when I got back home I called some scientists and took them back in time. I became famous and I was rich and all for only ten cents.

(After studying "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh," a story about the Civil War, M. Ingvarsson's class discussed how wars were fought in early American history and how they are or might be fought today. The following papers came from that discussion.)

Matthew Riedner
8th Grade

Compare and Contrast: Warfare From The Civil War Time To The Present Warfare is basically the same today as it was yesterday except for the technology, particularly our weapons. In this area, we have greatly advanced in the last century. For example, now we hold the power of mass destruction through the atomic bomb. We also have the ability to move through the sky with great speed as a result of the jet airplane. We can even propel missiles through the air and detonate them on target. Not only has our technology advanced, but so has our outlook or views of our army. Today, volunteers can begin a career in the military, and become successful. Also our armed forces have branched out to that of the four main branches; the army, navy, air force, and marines. Within these four parts you can specialize in many other careers. The difference between today and yesterday are numerous, but the one factor which has remained the same throughout history is the human factor. No matter how advanced our military becomes, it is all based on the trust and performance of the common human being.

Brock Wilson
8th Grade

Has War Changed?

There are many differences in how war is handled today as compared to the Civil War days. One difference is weapons. Today, they are much more advanced and deadly. As a matter of fact, I feel that if we would have had today's weapons back then we would all be dead. Weapons today are fully automatic. We even have satellites that can monitor our enemy's position. Nuclear weapons were never heard of back then. If you told the drummer boy about all that stuff he'd faint. (I don't like to talk about this topic, because it worries me that some lunatic psycho with a trigger finger could level countries.) I think we would be better off with the weapons of the Civil War days. The biggest reason is that back then war was a real hassle and no one wanted it. Plus, today we cheat because back then they didn't have satellites and didn't know where the enemies were. They had to just run out blindly. Another difference in today's wars is we fight with other countries. Sometimes this makes war seem far away and not real. How the wars of the past and wars of today were fought may be different, but one thing remains the same for wars: people die.

Greg Mesack
8th Grade

War Differences

During the years America has seen many wars, but they have been different in many ways. Consider the Civil War which is one of the best-known wars of all time. It was very different from modern wars. There are many differences

GHS

Sixteen members of the Grayling High School Band were selected to perform with the 22nd Annual MSBOA District II Honors Band in their concert at the Cathedral of St. Mary in Gaylord on December 2.

With those 16 qualifiers, GHS had more representatives to the 80-member band than any other District II high school.

The students auditioned for positions in November at Charlevoix High School. They played prepared pieces and were judged in such areas as intonation, technique, rhythm and expression.

Qualifiers then attended an afternoon of sectional and full band rehearsals at Mancelona High School on November 18.

On December 1, all band members gathered in Gaylord for Honors Band Week-end. Rehearsals were held on Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The students and chaperones stayed the night at the Gaylord Holiday Inn, where they had dinner and enjoyed the indoor pool and other facilities.

More rehearsals were held on Sunday morning and in the early afternoon. The concert was performed at 4 p.m.

Local Police Train With FBI Firearm Video System

A police officer hears a woman scream. As he rounds the corner another woman flees from a restaurant and yells that there is a man inside with a gun. Shots are heard inside the restaurant and moments later a man opens the door and runs out. The officer notices that he is carrying something small and dark at his side. The man runs towards the car where the first woman is hiding and begins to raise the dark object. Is he the woman's husband also fleeing from the suspected assailant? Is he the assailant? Is he carrying a small purse, or is it a gun? Is he going to use the woman as a shield to insure his escape? The officer, with his pistol in hand, faces a shoot/don't shoot situation. What action should he take?

Last week city, county and state area law enforcement officers tested their judgement, accuracy and response time when encountered with this and other types of life threatening situations using an FBI Firearm Automated Training System (FATS).

FATS is a computerized laser video machine that projects various shoot/don't shoot scenarios on a 6 by 8 foot screen, producing life size images. The officer stands in front of the screen and becomes a part of the on-screen action.

A special pistol is used that projects a laser light on the screen as the weapon is discharged. This light is picked up by a camera inside the FATS machine and registers on a computer printout that evaluates the officer's performance. The printout lists whether the scenario was a shoot/no shoot situation, evaluates judgement as good or poor, accuracy by whether the target was hit or missed, and measures reaction time in seconds and fractions of seconds.

Practice loads are used instead of live ammunition. "Here, if you make a mistake," said Grayling City Police Chief Peter Stephan, "you're not going to be dead and no one else is going to be injured either."

Stephan said society seems ready to condemn law enforcement officers for every mistake they make.

"An officer has a split second to make a decision that prosecuting and defense attorneys can take days, weeks and months to analyze," he said.

City patrolman Karl Schreiner participated in the judgement training and called it an "eye opening experience."

"I learned a lot about reaction time and how fast things can happen," Schreiner said. "I wish it were possible to video our own scenarios using local business."

"It would make the training more realistic," he said.

The FATS was on loan to the Grayling City Police Dept. from Hal Helterhof, a FBI agent in charge of Michigan District. The system was in Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba, and Marquette before it came to Grayling. Stephan picked up the machine in St. Ignace on Sunday, November 11, and it was returned to Detroit on November 19. From there it was going to FBI headquarters in Quantico, VA, for maintenance. During the week it was at Stephan's office, about 15 officers trained on the machine.

"Judgment training is not uncommon in metropolitan police agencies," said Stephan. "The Detroit police department has an extensive video studio for firearms training," he continued, "but not many officers in rural Michigan have had this training opportunity. We are especially grateful to Hal for making the equipment available."

He said most small and rural police departments cannot afford the $60,000 it would cost to purchase a FATS.

However, if Kirtland Community College purchased the training system, possibly through a grant, Stephan said 1,500 to 2,000 northern Michigan law enforcement officers could benefit from annual training.

"It cost us about $98 to use the FATS training and that includes transportation," he said. "That's less than what it would have cost for one officer to go through similar training."

Stephan said judgment training is a tool to help law enforcement officers be more aware of their responsibility whenever they use their weapon. As rural police officers are confronted with an increasing number of life-threatening situations, he said it stands to reason that improved training techniques will also have to increase.

"If one life is saved because of improved performances by police officers, the time and expense of the training would be worth it, regardless of the cost," stated Stephan.

N. Higgins State Park
Manager Earns Award

North Higgins Lake State Park Manager Bernard Williams received a National Association of Service and Conservation Corps award on November 7 from the Michigan Civilian Conservation Corps (MCCC).

MCCC Director Frank Ruswick presented the award to Williams during a state parks managers' meeting at the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Ralph A. MacMullan Conference Center at Higgins Lake, for his outstanding service to the Michigan Civilian Conservation Corps.

"Bernie has been a strong supporter of the MCCC program and has directed a large MCCC project at North Higgins Lake State Park since the program began in 1984," said Ruswick. "He has touched the lives of 75 MCCC participants during the past six years, providing valuable job training and experience as well as displaying a strong personal concern for each corps member. He is an excellent example of the type of person we strive to have as an MCCC project coordinator — an excellent supervisor, yet a real friend."

Williams has been a DNR Parks Division employee for 29 years and has been at North Higgins Lake State Park since 1969.

For the past eight years, the park has hosted the annual reunion of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC), the 1930s and '40s national work program at which current MCCC members and former CCC members have a cross-cut saw competition, luncheon, and campfire activities together. Williams is present during each three-day event to take care of details and make sure the groups have a good time together, Ruswick said.

Most of North Higgins Lake State Park is located in Crawford County.

I am amazed at the number of people who are not just turned off by spiders, but down right frightened by their presence. According to one source, the spiders of today, even the largest, such as a tarantula, are miniature when compared to the spider-like creatures that were common during the Silurian geological era some 350 million years ago. Much of the northern hemisphere was covered by warm seas in which the eurypterids or sea scorpions lived. Remains of these five to nine foot long creatures have been found in limestone deposits on Oesel Island in the Baltic Sea.

Like you, I am certainly glad that sea scorpions became extinct when one considers that spiders digest their food before eating. They inject a powerful digestive fluid into the prey which liquifies soft tissues. If this seems strange, it has been determined that a single strand of a spider's web actually consist of several thousand separate filaments. On a web making spider's abdomen are four to six test-like organs, each of which has several hundred extremely minute tubes and it is through these that a viscous fluid is secreted. This fluid hardens immediately when exposed to the air so the spider uses its hind feet to bring the hundreds of filaments together into a single strand.

Spiders may be strange creatures in nature's scheme, but they are no less the interesting.

Ballad

Oh where have you gone my brother, dear brother?
Why have you left our home?
I've gone overseas my sister, dear sister,
It's time to fend for my own.

And what will you do my brother, big brother?
What will you do away?
I'll fight for our country my sister, my sister
While you stay home and play.

Oh will you be safe my brother, brave brother?
And have you thought it all through?
I fear for my life my sister, my sister,
But yes it's what I must do.

When will you be back my brother, lost brother?
Will you be back someday?
Someday I'll be back my sister, sweet sister,
Someday I'll be back I pray.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

The Hospital

In fine suits or worn bib overalls
In Cadillacs or a beat up Ford
People go to the hospital seeking help
Hoping to have a measure of health restored

Rich and poor, young and old
All are equals in the grip of pain
Which will sparkle with health once more
Which will never be whole again

The doctors and nurses hurry here and there
Taking the good along with the bad
Will they tell that waiting young man his wife is dying
Or that he is going to become a dad

Men who labored hard each day
Men who lived a life of ease and wealth
Find that they are equals now
As they strive and search for health

There are those who wait in grim despair
For word that a loved one has passed away
There are those who await the news of a birth
You'll find them all gathered there each day

There are those who leave with a full life ahead
There are those who leave to die at home
Surrounded by the familiar and loved
Knowing they will not die alone

Hospitals play a very important role
We should all pay them more than heed
But they are things we seem to ignore
Till we find ourselves in need

Putting warmth in your life, in more ways than one.

You know that natural gas from MichCon is what keeps your Michigan home warm. But what you might not know is that at MichCon we do a lot more than just warm homes.

We work in the community. Fueling the economy with economic development. Watching out for children with our Community Child Watch Program. And assisting qualified minority businesses wherever possible.

We can even give you tips on how to conserve energy. Just give us a call.

Sure, MichCon is where the warm comes from. But it's where a lot of other good things come from, too.

"WHY GO ANYWHERE ELSE"

Kmart Hosts Christmas Programs For Needy

Starting November 23 through December 15, the Grayling Kmart store located at 2425 S. Grayling will have a children's Christmas tree trimmed with colorful paper tags. The purpose of this children's tree is to provide local needy children with a new gift for the holiday.

Each tag will give information on an underprivileged child such as first name, their sex, clothing sizes, and age. People interested in making a child's Christmas brighter select a tag from the children's tree and purchase a gift for the child.

The child's name must be registered at the Grayling Kmart store but gifts can be purchased at any location. Presents for the children should be returned gift wrapped to the Grayling store with the tag by December 15. The Grayling Kmart Good News Committee will make sure each child's gift is ready to open Christmas morning.

"This Kmart Good News Program helps make Christmas what it should be — the happiest time of the year for children," said Mr. Lokai, Kmart store manager. "And it provides people with a way to express the joy of caring." Kmart acquired the needy children's names from local organizations involved with these children on a regular basis.

This is the second year the Grayling Kmart is sponsoring the children's tree. Last year over 100 children were helped. Kmart Corporation has received a Presidential Citation For Private Sector Initiatives for its efforts to provide children with a new present during the Christmas holiday.

In addition to the Christmas children's tree, the Grayling Kmart will host 20 underprivileged children, identified by local civic organizations, to select $400 in merchandise for their Christmas shopping needs on December 15. The store will open their doors early for its annual children's Christmas shopping spree.

For the sixth consecutive year, Kmart Good News Committees will provide the opportunity for needy children to select presents for their families, friends, and themselves. In addition, they will be treated to breakfast and a gift-wrapped present from Santa Claus.

Christmas Hymn Sing Planned For Dec. 9

Sunday afternoon, December 9, at 3 p.m., a Community Hymn Sing is being hosted in Grayling. Various choirs and individuals will be singing the beautiful music of Christmas. You are invited to join in this celebration of Jesus' birth at the Grayling Assembly of God Church located on the I-75 Business Loop across from the airport. Refreshments will be served following the program.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

Gays Fight R.O.T.C.

A gay rights/ROTC-bashing movement is moving to either infiltrate or drive ROTC from college campuses across America. Already the California State University's Statewide Academic Senate representing 19 campuses, voted unanimously on May 5th to remove all ROTC (Reserve Officer Training Corps) programs from their campuses unless the Department of Defense agrees to allow the U.S. Military to be sodomized by January 1, 1991.

The official U.S. military policy declares that homosexuality "is incompatible with military service. The presence in the military environment of persons who engage in homosexual conduct seriously impairs the accomplishment of the military mission."

"The presence of such members adversely affects the ability of the Military Services to maintain discipline, good order and morale... and to prevent breaches of security."

If gay militancy should remove ROTC units from our campuses, it would have a very harmful effect on our military. Currently 70 percent of our present Army officers have come from college ROTC programs. In the academic year of 1988-89, 8217 ROTC cadets became commissioned officers.

Stanford University this fall opened its married student housing to homosexual couples. These "domestic partners" will be authorized to use all facilities as married couples. The only stipulation in the policy is a requirement for them to state they are in an "established long-term domestic partnership with a mutual commitment similar to that of marriage...."

We have traced the homosexual movement from the humanist manifesto to the Michigan Model. In one generation the sodomites have moved from the closets to the classroom. They will not be satisfied until America becomes like Sodom and Gomorrah. Already the notorious Hate Crimes Bill has been signed into law directing the federal government to accumulate statistics on hate crimes and develop new laws and regulations to end "hated" against "persecuted minorities" such as the homosexuals. The 1990 Civil Rights Bill vetoed by President Bush would have established quotas on hiring in the work place for "persecuted minorities" like the homosexuals.

Only a revival of Bible-believing Christians standing for God's absolute moral standards can hope to stem the tide of moral relativity by the humanists. Those who practice sexual immorality cannot hope to go to heaven. (1 Cor. 6:9, 10). Neither can those that defend it.

JUST TRYING TO GET AHEAD

Sunday John 17:1-26	Thursday Psalm 31:1-10
Monday Mark 3:1-35	Friday Jeremiah 31:1-14
Tuesday Psalm 36:1-12	Saturday 1 John 3:1-10
Wednesday Psalm 65:1-13

"I'm just trying to get ahead."
How often we hear this phrase. Yet, how often the "great American dream" turns into a nightmare.

Certainly we need some financial security, but in the process of pursuing great riches and social standing, which might be lost in the blink of an eye, some lose sight of those riches which cannot be bought, and they may pay the price.

Most importantly, we may sacrifice our spiritual well-being. Matthew 16:26 warns us, saying, "For what will a man be profited if he gains the whole world and forfeits his soul?"

This week, seek the riches of the spirit as you worship God in His House. The Bible advises us in Matthew 6:20 to "lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven where neither moth nor rust destroys..." and in Matthew 6:33 to "seek first His (God's) Kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things (worldly goods) shall be added to you."

Is this not the greatest security of all?
